

5

ABSTRACT

The invention pertains to a process and apparatus for automatically sorting and sequencing a random assemblage of products associated with a particular order for same. In one embodiment, the invention sequences the random products to match a 10 predetermined label application sequence.

15